

DeftSync LLC provides strategic technology advisory to defense, national security, energy and critical materials companies navigating federal program development, technology commercialization, and laboratory partnerships.

- Combines rare congressional appropriations expertise with hands-on technology entrepreneurship - including a successful SaaS company exit - and active relationships with federal laboratories, partnership intermediaries, prime contractors, and Program Executive Offices (PEOs).
- Proven track record of $210M+ in contract wins and appropriated programs.
- DeftSync accelerates national security technology companies' transition from startup and venture funding to operational deployment through CRADA development, multi-stakeholder partnership architecture, and strategic federal funding pathways.

Delivering results at the intersection of policy, technology, and defense.
